Dobson Pass Loop

(starting at Silver Mountain Trailhead)

Provided by Friends of the Coeur d'Alene Trails www.friendsofcdatrails.org

Route Directions:

Take I-90 to Exit 49. Turn South onto Bunker Avenue. The Silver Mountain Trailhead of the Trail of the Coeur d'Alenes is about 1/2 mile on your right.

This loop ride is for the paved road bike rider who loves to climb. The ride starts and ends on the Trail of the Coeur d'Alenes. It leaves the Trail at the Wallace Trailhead and continues on two lane paved roads over Dobson Pass and then returns to the Trail at the Enaville Trailhead. The first 6 miles out of Wallace is a steep climb. Of course, the next 30 miles is all down hill until you reach the Trail of the Coeur d'Alenes.

Mileage	Comments
0.0	Head toward Wallace on the Trail.
5.6	Gene Day Park is on your right. Restrooms and water are available here. This park is only open during the summer: May 1 to September 30.
11.6	This is the Wallace Trailhead. Turn left onto 9 Mile Creek Road. There are no shoulders on the roads between here and Enaville. Take a drink of your favorite energy drink and begin your climb.
17.6	You are at Dobson Pass (El 4090 ft). You climbed 1355 ft to the highest point on the ride. Enjoy the steep downhill twisting ride for the next 3 miles.
24.4	If you are interested in a side trip. Murray is about 7 miles down the road to your right. You could return from Murray through Prichard and rejoin this route at the Prichard "Y".
27.6	You are at the Prichard "Y". Refreshments are available at the store on your left. You will follow the Coeur d'Alene River from here to Enaville.
47.5	The Enaville Trailhead is on your right. Turn left onto the Trail of the Coeur d'Alenes. The Enaville Resort on your left is friendly to bicycle riders.
53.5	You have returned to the Silver Mountain Trailhead.
